Editorial Review

Review

[Review of earlier edition:] This excellent and diverse book has been updated for 2009 and is packed with astonishing lists and unexpected facts.... Abundantly illustrated, this coffee-table book is informative, splashy and fun. (Larry Cox Shelf Life 2009-02-26)

[Review of earlier edition:] May compete with Internet searching because [it is] interesting eyecatching!... A perfect quick-reference source elementary and middle-school students.... Depending on the type of library, [this] reference [source] will be popular in elementary, high-school, academic, and public libraries. (Christine Bulson Booklist 2008-03-15)

[Review of earlier edition:] Abundantly illustrated ... every page is chock-full of unexpected and astonishing lists, rankings, facts and juxtapositions. (Bookpage)

[Review of earlier edition:] A handy instant reference for adults and children, with no need to start up your computer -- just check the book. (Annie Boulanger Burnaby Now 2007-12-15)

[Review of earlier edition:] Visually appealing ... Each page is as intriguing and fact filled as the one before. This text would provide many hours of Oohs and Did you know? From the reader as they share new knowledge with others.... Readers are fascinated as the world's facts unroll at their fingertips. This text would make a great addition to a classroom/school library. (Anne Hatcher Resource Links, vol. 13, no. 4)

[Review of earlier edition:] Brilliantly designed and illustrated with photographs, maps, drawings and charts that jump off the page. (Sheldon Kirshner The Canadian Jewish News 2007-11-29)

[Review of earlier edition:] Selected as a 2008 'Quick Picks for Reluctant Young Adult Readers' by the Young Adult Library Services Association. (YALSA)

[Review of earlier edition:] The authors' interesting text and lists along with the publisher's use of colorful photographs and sidebars makes the one that users will want to browse long after finding the answer to their original question. In fact, the publisher used more than 1,500 full-color photographs, maps, charts, and illustrations in this 320-page book. Sure, this information is available elsewhere, and sure, librarians can probably pull the information for patrons from other sources, but this volume is so compact, colorful, concise, loaded with photographs, and so easy to read, that libraries really ought to have this work, especially at the relatively low price of $29.95. Librarians will not want to put it down either. (Shannon Graff Hysell American Reference Books Annual)

[Review of earlier edition:] This colorfully designed reference-for-fun volume offers facts including lists of milestones, firsts, and bests on approximately 150 subjects divided into 20 categories. (BookNews 2009-12-01)

[Review of earlier edition:] Endlessly fascinating. (Canadian Jewish News 2008-12-11)

Introduction

This new edition of Firefly's World of Facts has been updated from cover to cover. Inside, you will find thousands of amazing facts and hundred of exciting pictures. Keep up-to-date with the most recent world record-breakers, cutting-edge scientific and medical breakthroughs and gadgets and gizmo from the latest e-readers to the cleverest robots.

Facts and figures

Firefly's World of Facts is divided into 20 sections -- Planet Earth, People, World History and space to name but a few. It includes information on a huge range of subjects, with data from authoritative sources and specialists on every subject under the sun -- and beyond. Among the countless new entries are features on the world's tallest building and the biggest ship, miraculous rescues and grisly torture methods, child soldiers and child film stars, the smallest mobile phone and the smallest snake, animal heroes and toilets in space as well important anniversaries coming up in 2010.

Inside information

Detailed lists and charts show global comparisons, while special features and fact disks provide fast information, revealing everything from the countries with the most computers to the highest-earning animated films, from the greatest achievers to the most popular social networking websites. You will also discover an array of oddities, including a time-eating clock with no hands, a lord whose carriage was pulled by zebras, a flying friar and people who dine in mid-air!

A section on countries gives essential information, including population, capital city and currency for every country in the world, as well as the flag of each one.

Timelines on subjects such as communications, astronomy, war and inventions give a see-at-a-glance overview and pinpoint important milestone up to the present day.

Useful maps, tables and formulae include conversions, mathematical symbols and scales, from Beaufort (weather) to Richter (earthquakes).

Other features

Web link boxes suggest useful websites to help you explore subjects further. See also boxes guide you to information on a particular subject elsewhere in the book. There is an extensive index at the back of the book, as well as a list of sources.
